

It Takes Some Time

Shannon VanZegeren

My reservoir is deeper than it was two years ago
There wasn't much I understood, so much I didn't know
There's so much to learn
Only two years in
To think how much my reservoir will grow

*Oh fill me up
Deepen my love
It's so sweet to taste the beauty
Of what we both gave up*

*And we've fought wars
All my love is yours
Just when I think I can't contain it
My heart finds room for more*

Thought we were planting roses, instead we planted thorns
We both got cuts & bruises, unexpected, battle torn
We had wounds that stung
But found our love so strong
I knew that we could weather out the storm

It takes some time to notice, oh it takes some time to know
It isn't like the movies, but it's better than they show
And when those roses bloomed
I found myself confused
Love is patient. Give it time to grow

*Oh fill me up
Deepen my love
It's so sweet to taste the beauty
Of what we both gave up*

*And we've fought wars
All my love is yours
Just when I think I can't contain it
My heart finds room for more*

I'm overwhelmed at thinking that we're nowhere near the end
And if it tastes this good now, how sweet the taste will be by then
Like aged old wine
It takes some time
To plant a garden full of roses that we tend

*Oh fill me up
Deepen my love
It's so sweet to taste the beauty
Of what we both gave up*

*And we've fought wars
All my love is yours
Just when I think I can't contain it
My heart finds room for more*
